'CONSERVATION HEROES' MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN MISSISSAUGA

June 1, 2016 – (MISSISSAUGA, Ontario) – Enersource is recognizing local businesses that have demonstrated leadership and vision to reduce their environmental footprint.

In a new feature called 'Conservation Heroes' which appears on the Enersource website, the first company to be recognized is Mother Parkers Tea & Coffee Inc. The 103-year old Mississauga-based company manufactures and ships tea and coffee to communities across North America. To better manage energy costs and maximize conservation efforts, Mother Parkers has demonstrated innovation, while participating in numerous programs to reduce electricity, natural gas and water usage.

"Throughout Mississauga, there are businesses that are innovative in their thinking and practices in order to lower electricity costs and 'think green' for the sake of our community," said Enersource President and CEO Peter Gregg. "This new initiative provides us with an opportunity to applaud local companies like Mother Parkers who have made significant efforts to reduce their environmental footprint."

"As a society, we have a duty to the community and to future generations to find ways that are more environmentally friendly in the way business is conducted," says Adrian Khan, Environmental Health and Safety Manager at Mother Parkers' Canadian Operations. "At Mother Parkers we have been able to connect our commitment to safety with our approach to environmental stewardship. This results in our company being safer and more environmentally responsible. We thank Enersource for recognizing our achievements."
